

Move just one disc to a new location and end up with two lines of four discs each.

The solution is shown in the illustration.