Spring is in the air! Five women studied their gardens last weekend, deciding it was high time the garden was cleaned out and new seeds were planted. So, each woman spent Sunday afternoon cleaning out her garden in preparation for planting. Each decided that during the week, they'd plant the first of the flowers planned for the garden. Determine the full name of each woman, what type of flower each was adding to the garden, and what day of the week each planted the seeds.

- Ms. Smith didn't plant her flowers on Wednesday. Harriet Peach didn't plant hollyhocks.
- Betty planted violas, but not on Tuesday. Harriet planted her flowers before Martha, but after Gertrude. The petunias were planted on Friday but not by Sara.
- Sara, whose last name wasn't Wells, didn't plant her flowers on Thursday. Betty's last name wasn't Smith.
- The hollyhocks were planted on Wednesday. The pansies were planted on Tuesday.
- Ms. Mann didn't plant her flowers on Friday or Monday. Martha's last name wasn't Smith.
- The five women were represented by Ms. Fiddler, the woman who planted petunias, the woman who planted flowers on Thursday, the woman who planted marigolds, and Harriet.
