

Draw the figure as shown in the illustration or just print it out.

The goal is to make a cut (or draw one line) - of course it needn't be straight - that will divide the figure into two identical parts.

The solution is shown in the illustration.